ADVANCING LEGAL KNOWLEDGE

mc academy
for international legal studies

WHY MC ACADEMY?

The expansion of global information and communication technologies is subjecting public and private institutions to serious challenges and opportunities. These challenges are compounded by the diverse and intricate threats that face humanity—climate change, poverty, inequality, divergent economic growth, mass immigration, energy security and terrorism, to name but a few.

The emerging complex global challenges are forcing us to rethink our collective possible futures. To achieve this, we must construct a suitable mind-set within which appropriate behaviour may be realised.

It is true that legal ideas and institutions are constructed with the aim of transforming and generating desired human behaviour. We believe there is a pressing need for innovative legal ideas and institutions that will aid the reshaping of our vision for a better future.

To achieve this, we will design and implement learning systems that will contribute to the positive advancement of international legal knowledge and practice; and inspire and train to the highest possible standards those who decide to join our educational, training and research programmes.

All our active training and research programmes are purposefully designed to benefit from the latest innovation in the fields of learning and educational technology. Advances in e-learning and related technologies constitute the backbone of MC Academy's learning experience offered by the various units of each cluster.
